

REACH TENNESSEE'S MOST POLITICALLY ENGAGED CONSERVATIVES!

2024 AD GUIDE

In State & Local Politics, It's Not About the Size of the List... It's About WHO Is on the List!

Most Republicans don't keep up with what's going on in Nashville or in the local government for that matter. However, a small percentage of Tennesseans do.

Who are they? They are county party chairmen, elected officials, activists, news junkies, organizational leaders, government employees and even lobbyists.

These are the individuals who make phone calls, write letters, put out campaign signs, volunteer, donate and share stories on social media. They are also the people who tell their friends exactly who and what to vote for on election day.

In short, they are our state's greatest political influencers and they subscribe to the Tennessee Conservative because of what we believe and how we report.

What The Tennessee Conservative Is All About

We are about smaller government and more freedom. We focus on the issues of individual liberty, school choice, illegal immigration, taxation, fiscal responsibility, small business economics, second amendment rights, Christian conservatism and corporate/political corruption in the Volunteer State.

We hold Republicans accountable to live out their campaign promises and point out the failures of leftist leadership and policy – and we do it while making personal, lasting connections with our audience.

How Many People Do You Reach?

As of today, we reach 18,000+ politically engaged Tennesseans through email and text messaging. Our 32,000+ followers on social media and podcasting help us reach over 1,200,000 people each month. Our website just got 51,000 page views with 24,000 unique visitors... and these numbers climb monthly.

Who Runs Our Publication?

The Tennessee Conservative is headed by Brandon Lewis, an entrepreneur with a political background in federal, state and local campaigning with a passion for freedom and liberty. Jason Vaughn is our Media Director and Paula Gomes is our Social Media Coordinator. We also have a merry band of freelancers and Conservative Citizen Journalists who contribute to the success of our publication.
